

RICOH Certificate Enrolment Service

Simplify the certificate management process for devices in your workplace

RICOH
imagine. change.

Transform your IT with fully automated certificate management for enhanced efficiency and security

The RICOH Certificate Enrolment Service (CES) is a state-of-the-art solution designed to streamline certificate management within an organisation's IT infrastructure. We understand managing certificates across multiple devices can be time-consuming and carries security risks if not done correctly and promptly. Additionally, legal regulations are increasing pressures on IT teams.

Our innovative service offers centralised management of automatic certificate deployment, renewal, and revocation, significantly reducing the operational burden on IT administrators. By automating these processes, the RICOH Certificate Enrolment Service frees IT teams from the tedium of manual certificate management, allowing them to focus on more strategic tasks.

How RICOH Certificate Enrolment Service benefits you

Ricoh's solution fully automates the certificate management process, helping to improve operational efficiency and maintain high security.

Improved security

Maximise the security of devices in your workplace, ensuring that digital certificates are valid and configured correctly. This service prevents the risk of certificate expiration, ensuring that all certificates remain valid and up to date.

Cost reductions with automation

Achieve cost savings through optimisation of the certificate management process. RICOH Certificate Enrolment Service fully automates certificate management including monitoring expiration dates of certificates and auto renews, delivering time saving to your teams and creates space to focus on strategic fulfilling projects.

Centralised control and monitoring

A centralised dashboard offers IT administrators complete visibility and control over their certificate management.

Designed for complete flexibility for diverse needs and environments

Our solution is designed to scale and adapt to your changing needs. New devices added to your print infrastructure? RICOH Certificate Enrolment Service can accommodate. With plugin and scripting capabilities to support individual requests, the solution can be customised.

Simplified certificate enrolment process

Our certificate solution streamlines the process by handling the entire process, from requesting certificates to securely applying them to your device, relieving your IT team.

The solution offers the following key features:

Auto device import – it can be integrated with external systems such as RICOH Streamline NX to automatically import device information.

Auto error handling – it is designed to detect errors and take necessary actions to minimise manual intervention and automate an efficient resolution utilising Ricoh's smart technology.

Scripting capability – support individual requests by running a script in every certificate lifecycle.

Plugin design – plugin architecture allows integration with various types of devices, systems, and certification authorities.

Pre-processing and post-processing support – when integrated with RICOH Streamline NX, RICOH Certificate Enrolment Service is able to run pre-processing and post-processing tasks, to combine device setting changes alongside certificate updates.
